COOLIDGE ASKS GOVERNORS' AID

ONE DIES IN HELPING WIFE, POSSEMAN SHOT

Edward Larson Third Victim of Tragedy, Had Killed
Neighbor at Alexandria

AN ALL-NIGHT VIGIL

Posse Summoned Surrounded
Bungalow, Finally Burned
and Slayer Found Dead

Alexandria, Minn., Oct. 20.—Edward Larson, 38, slayer of Jacob Ley, was shot to death by a posse and his body partly burned when his bungalow was fired in an effort to drive him from cover, possemen found early today when they examined the smoking ruins of the house.

William Ransden, a member of the posse, also is dead as a result of the series of tragic events which had their inception last night when Larson shot Ley after the latter had attempted to escape from the bungalow and her two sons who had been driven from their homes by the husband at the point of a gun. Ransden was killed accidentally during an exchange of shots between the posse and Larson.

Larson had separated himself from the attacking party of deputy sheriffs that had surrounded the Larson home where the slayer had barricaded himself and a bullet struck him in the thigh and ranged upwards. He died later absolving his companions of blame.

All Night Siege

Discovery of Larson's death followed an all-night siege during which the possemen under the direction of Sheriff Emil Lundeen of Alexandria, sought to dislodge him by rifle fire and by pouring ammonia into the house. One member of the posse gained entrance to a room adjoining that in which Larson had barricaded himself and spread about two gallons of ammonia about the floor. The ammonia failed, however, to have any effect on Larson and the posse divided it into two sections and began to pour a steady stream of lead into the building to which Larson steadily replied. It was during this exchange of shots that Ransden was fatally wounded, apparently by a bullet from an opposite section of the posse.

Slayer Keeps Up Fire

While the posse held a consultation Larson kept up an intermittent fire and the sheriff's party decided to fire the house. This was done at 6:30 o'clock and shortly after the building was burned and Larson's partly burned body with one leg almost shot away was found in the ruins. Officials believe that he died before the fire was started.

In the ruins of the bungalow two rifles, a shotgun and several revolvers, also were found. It was apparent possemen said that Larson had a large supply of ammunition on hand but this was destroyed in the fire.

Had Been Drinking

Before the shooting of Ley, who was 60 years old, Larson was said to have been drinking heavily and had ordered his wife and son out of the house. Mrs. Larson and the boy went across the street to the Ley home for protection. Ley attempted then to act as a peacemaker and started for the Larson home. As he stepped across the threshold Larson opened fire, two bullets taking effect in Ley's neck. The wounded man staggered back across the street and died on his own doorstep with his wife and Mrs. Larson standing over him attempting to administer aid.

Sheriff Lundeen immediately deputized a posse composed principally of members of the local National Guard company and surrounded the Larson home where the slayer sought refuge in his bed room.

GREAT CROWD SEES WORLD'S BEST CATTLE

More People Turn Out at Bismarck Than Any Point
Thus Far on Long Trip

CATTLE ARE EXHIBITED

More than 1,000 people visited the special train on the Northern Pacific railway, carrying the world's champion milking cattle, horses and ponies, at the local station when it stopped from 4:40 p. m. to 5:45 p. m. last evening. The crowd, according to officials of the train, was the largest that had visited the train on the present trip, which they said was an indication that effective publicity methods had been used in Bismarck to spread the word to the people. It was estimated that 500 farmers and families saw the cattle. The champion cattle and horses travel in fine style. The finest of the Carnation Stock Farm, while more than a score of men were employed to remain in the cars with the cattle and horses. Stalls had been built. Liberal bedding was provided with straw, and the animals are closely watched.

Some of the best animals were led from the cars and displayed before a big crowd while talks were made. Mr. Osterhuis told those present that the train was not being sent out with cooperation of the Northern Pacific railroad, represented by H. W. Byerly, general immigration agent, for the purpose of giving the speakers a chance to give advice, but simply to show the people what can be done through long and careful breeding of cattle. He cited the case of Ovard Pickard of Oregon, whose fine Jersey cattle, including the champion cow of America, had done Mr. Pickard, he said, owned a small farm, had a small number of cattle but had decided to have good ones. Through years of breeding he built up his herd until his animals won four national championships and are being sought for exhibition purposes all over the country.

"Carnation Daisy," a Holstein, butter king of her class and holding the second highest world's milk record for four year olds, attracted much attention, as did the display of milking shorthorns and Devon cattle.

Prof. G. S. Bulkley, vice president of the Carnation Stock Farm, Seattle, told the audience that there was no anticipation of an over-production of dairy products in the next generation. He said that half the people of the world did not use dairy products and that in his own business, the evaporated milk business, it was figured that 92 percent of the market remained to be developed.

In speaking of building dairy herds, he declared that all fine animals were the result of generation after generation of careful breeding and selection. One reason, he said, why Mr. Pickard and many others raise fine stock, is because it relieves the dairy business of its drudgery and substitutes pride in accomplishment, as well as makes the business more profitable, to raise fine cattle.

North Dakota, with her big forage crop and climatic conditions, was well adapted to raising fine cattle, he said.

The train included 68 cattle, 40 horses and ponies, and the value was placed in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Leaving Bismarck the train stopped in Mahan where a large crowd visited it. It had stopped at Jamestown previously.

A. C. Influence Is Great in Paint Industry

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 20.—More than 50 percent of the chemists engaged in paint and varnish factories of the United States are graduates of the school of chemistry at the North Dakota Agricultural college, according to Dr. W. T. Pearce's estimate. Forty graduates of the North Dakota chemistry school are now scattered among the various states of the union and apply to practical tasks the knowledge gained at the A. C., he stated. "The total number of paint and varnish chemists is small it may reasonably be said that the North Dakota graduates have an active part in directing the paint industry of this country. Their influence might almost be said to dominate this industry."

CALIFORNIA MAN ELECTED LEGION HEAD

John R. Quinn, "Typical Westerner," Will Handle Organization For Year

San Francisco, Oct. 20.—A tired hand yielded the executive management of the American Legion to a newly elected national commander when Alvin Owsley, retiring commander, turned over to John R. Quinn of California, the responsibility of guiding the destinies of the legion for 1923-24, at the close of the fifth annual convention of the organization here last night.

Owsley, weary from his year's strife, his 65,000 miles of traveling during his administration on behalf of the legion and showing a loss of 25 pounds, smiled a wan smile as he took Commander Quinn by the hand and said: "I turn you over to the mercies of the newspapers, the photographers and the public."

A far different type of man took over Owsley's burden. Quinn, cowboy at a typical westerner, of the open plains, immediately announced he would dedicate his administration to conducting a vigorous campaign to obtain immediate passage of the former service men's adjusted compensation act, and a close and human contact between the disabled veterans and the government agencies in charge of rehabilitation and hospitalization.

Got 502 Votes
Quinn was elected on the eleventh ballot. His total vote was 502 compared with 347 for James A. Drain of Washington, D. C., 30 for Clarence R. Edwards of Boston, 54 for Wilder S. Metcalf of Kansas, with 15 absent or not voting.

The following national vice commanders were elected:
Ryan Duffy, Wisconsin 749 votes; Thurman Mann, North Carolina, 739 votes; Wm. B. Healy, Pennsylvania, 625 votes; C. M. Stoddard, Arizona, 625 votes; and Lester Albert, Idaho, 545 votes.

Auxiliary Elects

Mrs. Frank Bishop of Leicester, Mass., was elected national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, composed of women, mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of legion members and women who performed military service during the war, at the final session of the organization late yesterday.

BERLIN GOES TO MAT WITH BAVARIA HEAD

Recalls Commander of Reichswehr Who Flouted the Orders Sent From Berlin

STRESEMANN TO SPEAK

Will Discuss Germany's Foreign Relations and the Situation in the Ruhr

Berlin, Oct. 20.—Chancellor Stresemann, it is announced, will publicly discuss today Germany's foreign relations and the situation in the Ruhr, and Rhineland. The report that General Von Lossow, commander of the Reichswehr in Bavaria has been recalled by Dr. Otto Gessler, the military dictator, was confirmed at the ministry of defense late last night. While President Ebert and Dr. Gessler sincerely decide to avoid friction with Munich at a time when the Berlin government is busily engaged in subduing the red army of Saxony, Von Lossow's stubbornness in acting on the orders of the defense minister in which he has been liberally encouraged by the Bavarian dictator, Dr. Von Kahr, has so incensed both the president and Dr. Gessler that they felt the federal military authority and army discipline would be menaced should they permit the Reichswehr commander to flout them further.

Unless Dr. Gessler now succeeds in selecting a successor to Von Lossow as military governor of Bavaria, the central government's state of emergency decree will become null and void so far as Bavaria is concerned and disaster will befall the Reichswehr commander to flout them further.

Sakakawea Said To Be Buried In So. Dakota

Mobridge, S. D., Oct. 20.—The burial of Sakakawea, famous Indian woman guide of Lewis and Clark, which has been the subject of many disputed claims, has finally been established by Doane Robinson, of Pierre, S. D., state historian of South Dakota, says the Mobridge Tribune. According to Robinson, the body of the Indian woman was buried near what was formerly Fort Manuel, in northwestern Carson county.

Mr. Robinson and other spent some time looking up data in the vicinity of the site of the old fort. While the exact spot could not be fixed, the approximate location was determined, this being about two miles south of Kenel on the west bank of the Missouri river, in Carson county, South Dakota.

Sakakawea, most famous of Indian women, following the completion of her work as guide with the Lewis and Clark expedition of 1805, went with her husband and small child to St. Louis, where Captain Clark established them on a small farm. But the young Indian woman became homesick and when Manuel Lisa, a Spanish fur trader, started in 1813 up the Missouri river to the land of the Ree and Sioux, Sakakawea and her family accompanied him. The party reached their destination in August on Nov. 19 of that year.

John C. Lott, who was Manuel Lisa's clerk, kept a diary and in this he recorded the death of Sakakawea, of diphtheria on Dec. 20, 1812.

GETS ALONG WELL

FUNERAL FOR GUN VICTIM TO BE TOMORROW

Roy Pennell, Well Known Bismarck Man, To Be Buried Here on Sunday

WAS WORKING AT FARM

Shotgun Discharged Accidentally and Full Force of Gun Struck Body

Funeral services for Roy Pennell, 408 Twelfth street, who was accidentally shot and fatally wounded at his farm 13 miles southeast of Bismarck about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, will be held at the residence at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The body of Mr. Pennell was brought to Bismarck last evening after a party of officials and relatives had gone to the farm.

Mr. Pennell had gone out for a load of hay on his farm. George Hedrix and a boy in the field helped him grease the front wheels of his wagon, according to officials who went to the farm. Then they went to their own stack of hay and he, to his, some distance away. Mr. Pennell had on the wagon a small load of fence posts and a tarpaulin and shotgun on the wagon. He threw the tarpaulin off. It is believed by those who went to the scene of the accident that Mr. Pennell, while standing on the wagon, either reached out to drop the gun on the ground or that in lifting a pole it fell to the ground. The shotgun, a Winchester pump, fell to the ground and was discharged, the charge of shot striking Mr. Pennell above the eyebrows on the left side of the head, which probably was virtually instantaneous.

Sheriff Albin Hedstrom headed a party called to the scene of the accident. He was accompanied by Deputy Phelps, Louis Benzer, a brother-in-law of Mr. Pennell and Alvin Benzer, acting deputy coroner. Mr. Pennell was 40 years old. He was born in Boston, Maine, and was brought to North Dakota at the age of two years. Pennell lived on his farm south of the city for many years, and had lived there or in Bismarck for 45 years. He was a member of the Macabees lodge of Bismarck.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Maria Pennell and two sons, William and Lawrence.

SUGAR BEETS BEING RAISED IN N. DAKOTA

Lower Yellowstone Irrigation Project Partly in N. D., Produces Large Amount

Three thousand two hundred acres of sugar beets are being raised on the Lower Yellowstone Irrigation project, it was stated by H. A. Farker, of Savage, Mont., manager, in response to a request for information on the project in North Dakota.

"About 3,200 acres of sugar beets are being raised on the project this season and are showing a very good yield," he wrote. "It is estimated that the acreage next year will be nearly double this. Representatives of several sugar companies have been looking over this locality recently and it is reasonably certain that a sugar factory will be constructed here within the next two or three years. If a factory is located somewhere on this project it will make an easy outlet for beets raised on the Williston project."

The area under the ditch in North Dakota is approximately 20,000 acres, although a large percentage is not being irrigated at this time, he said. One reason is the lack of laterals and another the small amount of vacant public land.

ENGLISH, U. S. HORSES RACE FOR $100,000

Zev and Papyrus Meet at Belmont Park in Greatest International Horse Race

BOTH DECLARED READY

English and American Sportsmen After Examining Them Say the Horses Are Fit

ZEZ WINS

New York, Oct. 20.—Zev, the American entry, defeated Papyrus, the English derby winner, at Belmont Park this afternoon, winning by six lengths. It was a clean cut triumph for the American horse.

New York, Oct. 20.—Two hemispheres were awaiting today the shout from 100,000 throats that would be echoed around the turf—"they're off."

"Battles of the century" have there been; the "battle of the continents" has passed into the printed word from their logs; the stars have shaken the diamond dust and the supremacy of baseball has again been decided. The shouting dies and the spotlight shifts.

Now comes the sport of kings. Zev and Papyrus are ready. The picture is of a soggy, damp crowd tense and shouting mostly grouped in a great mass, but scattered all along the fringe of a huge oval; a bell rings and then two prancing horses of blue blood and high spirits and stop of their two diminutive figures, one flashing royal purple and primrose the other soft green, bordered in white.

A few nervous minutes as they draw up at the post and rear; then a flash as the barrier is sprung and man and beast shoot out for the enviable lead and the coveted rail; the struggle at the turn; the dash down the back stretch; the center as the last curve is rounded and the deafening roar of lungs on fire as they come down the stretch to home.

"It's come on, Steve," and "Come on, Earl," and today the glory of two nations is riding with them. Eighty thousand dollars and a gold cup to the winner; $20,000 to the loser.

ZEZ DECLARED FIT

New York, Oct. 20.—Zev, the Ranocas Stable's brown son of the Finn—Miss Kearney, were to match strides with Papyrus, English derby winner, for international three year old supremacy and stakes of $100,000 at Belmont Park today.

Zev will go to the post despite the eleventh hour development of a skin malady which it seemed today would force the withdrawal of the colt and the substitution of Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson's My Own, which was shipped to Belmont Park, prepared to race, if called upon. But the "race committee of the Jockey Club, after examining Zev and receiving the report of a veterinarian, decided that the Ranocas Star was fit and ended a day of sensational speculation in turf circles by announcing America's original entry would oppose the English champion.

Salient facts concerning the Zev-Papyrus international race follow:
Place: Belmont Park track.
Time: 4 p. m. (the international race will be fourth on the list of events which gets under way at 2:30 o'clock).

Distance: One and one-half miles. Weight: 126 pounds.
Purse: $100,000 ($80,000 and a gold cup to the winner; $20,000 to the loser).

Contestants: Zev, by the Finn—Miss Kearney, Ranocas Stable's three year old, representing the United States; Papyrus, by Tracery—Miss Mattie, Benjamin Irish's three year old, representing Great Britain.

TOURISTS ARE STILL COMING THROUGH CITY

Some Brave the Chilly Breezes to Sleep in Tourists Camps; Most to Hotels

CORN EXHIBIT SOUGHT

Association of Commerce Desires Exhibit Showing Burleigh Co. Resources

Tourists are still coming through Bismarck, even though the chilly breezes that heralded winter have set in. Some of them are camping at the tourist camps along the way, but most of them now are seeking hotels.

Within the last two days a dozen tourists have stopped at the Association of Commerce for tourist information. A. W. Tracy, secretary of the National Parks Highway Association, in Bismarck yesterday said that while he was in the Twin Cities for two days the tourist information bureaus there directed 100 tourists on their way to the west coast to use the northern routes, because of the bad condition of roads on the southern routes.

Most of those touring through now are on their way to California for the winter.

Secretary Bradley of the A. of C. today said it was desired that the Association receive samples of corn of all kinds for the purpose of making up a corn exhibit for permanent exhibition at the A. of C. He finds much use and would be glad if Burleigh county men desiring to boost the county would contribute a few ears of corn, with information concerning it, the acreages and number of bushels per acre. The name of the person who raised the corn will be tagged on it.

The A. of C. Fire Prevention committee is well satisfied with the response to Fire Prevention week, and believe that if the effort should result in the prevention of one fire in Bismarck the time and effort would have been well spent. More than 1,500 replies to questionnaires on fire prevention were received from school children. Through these they were asked to check on their own homes. It is believed this attention to the question of fire prevention will result in the elimination of many bad fires, rubbish and other materials which might lead to bad fires. Many merchants have answered questionnaires and the Fire Prevention committee asks that any questionnaires now in their hands be delivered at once.

Ballots are being sent out on eight questions having to do with the national forestry policy, for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Directors of the Bismarck A. of C. will be nominated and elected in November. The primary at which double the number of five directors to be elected will be chosen will be on November 19 and the final election will be on November 22.

The Bismarck Advertising Club, in a meeting last night, decided to hold the next month's Community Sale on Thursday. It will be some time in November. A number of prizes will be offered.

ENFORCEMENT OF LAWS HELD A JOINT DUTY

President Addresses Conference of Governors From Various States of Union

CITES DRY LAW DUTY

President Also Refers to Immigration and Narcotic Law Enforcement

Washington, Oct. 20.—President Coolidge called on the Governors of the several states today to assume their full share of responsibility of the enforcement of the prohibition laws.

Meeting with more than 30 state executives who have responded to his invitation to attend a White House conference on law enforcement Mr. Coolidge flatly declared that "no provision of the eighteenth amendment or the national prohibition act contemplates any surrender of state responsibility."

Provisions of the 18th amendment, he said, are supplementary statutes, the President said, "perfectly plain" in the directions they give both to the Presidents and the Governors of the states. He added that the country "ought to comprehend that when laws are made there is and can be no question about the duty of enforcement to enforce them with such instruments and by such means as the law provides for securing enforcement."

The President suggested no new method of cooperation between the federal government and the states and made no comment on the declaration of the Governors yesterday in their conference at West Baden, Indiana, or the suggestions as to enforcement methods recently put forward by individual Governors. He did say, however, that the problems of law enforcement could not be answered "by political intrigue" or determined "by extremists on either side."

WELCOMES EXECUTIVES.
The text of the President's address in part, follows:
"It is my peculiar privilege to welcome you here as one who by experience can look at your problems with that sympathy which comes from common fellowship. The government of a sovereign state of our nation is the very greatest honor that a state can bestow. A gathering of governors has a significance greater than any other unofficial convocation that can be held in the United States."

"It would only be a matter of large public importance that could justify a gathering of the chief executives of the states and the nation at a conference in Washington. You have been invited here that I may lay before you some of the problems for a better enforcement of law. A statement of the purpose is sufficient to indicate the importance for a government which does not enforce its laws is unworthy the name of a government and cannot expect to have either the support of its own citizens or the respect of the informed opinion of the world."

"That ours is a dual system of administration does not need to be explained in this presence. Joint powers and joint responsibilities exist, which can best be exercised and discharged by joint action."

"While certain classes of aliens easily distinguishable have been excluded from this country for a considerable length of time a general policy of restricted immigration broadly inclusive has only been recently adopted. The new law admits approximately 80,000 aliens or about one-third of the number coming annually under the old law before the war. On the other hand the number desiring to enter is now much larger and attempts to evade the law have greatly increased. It is estimated by the Department of Labor that there is a seepage over the border of about the ports of about 100,000 which is a considerable menace to the success of our immigration policy."

"Such an influx of persons entering the country in violation of law cannot fail to attract the attention of local police authority along our borders and on our seacoast, who can be of very great assistance in notifying the local representatives of the Department of Justice. The Department of Labor in order that such persons may be more readily excluded and deported."

Narcotics Problem.
"Another problem exists which is world-wide in some of its aspects. It is a problem of such importance to the welfare of our country that special representatives of the states and the federal government have been recently considered the regulation of the opium traffic where their efforts met with large success. The national laws and the laws of most of the states regulate the sale of narcotic drugs. Their use, except under the direction of competent medical advice, is everywhere regarded as attended with grave dangers and is resulting in irreparable disaster. The effective prevention of the people from these results depends on our ability to prevent the smuggling and (Continued on Page 2)

SAYS WOMEN OF U. S. WILL LOSE BEAUTY

This Biologist Sinks Into Deepest Pessimism at Kansas Meeting

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The American woman is rapidly becoming ugly. Albert Edward Wiggam, biologist and biologist of New York, declared in an address prepared for delivery here today before a group of Kansas teachers.

"Our beautiful women soon will cease to exist except in pictures and statuary," Mr. Wiggam asserted. He based his conclusion on the disparity between birth rate of American women of the highest type and that among low class immigrants.

"By this process the American woman is rapidly becoming ugly," he said. "With a decline in intelligence, there always comes a decline in intelligence. Every decline in intelligence brings a decline in morals for intelligent people are more moral than stupid people. The crime wave is no mystery to biologists who have studied crime among the unfit in the last 100 years."

"There is only one way out. The old family ideals must be restored. The old American homestead with its good sized family of well-born children must be rebuilt. The mother must replace the flapper as the national ideal. Motherhood must again become fashionable among our upper classes as it was two generations ago. Sound education along lines of race improvement is our only salvation. Otherwise American history will soon be written only in its ruins."

MARKET NEWS

WHEAT FIRM ON BOARD MART

Lightness of Offerings Leads To An Upturn Today

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Buying by shorts who found offerings were light brought about a moderate upturn in wheat today during early dealings. The market was also influenced somewhat by the fact that the movement of spring wheat to country elevators and to the leading terminals has become small compared with a year ago. Besides the run of winter wheat is of modest proportions.

Opening prices which varied from unchanged to 3-8 cents higher with December $1.04 3-4 to 7-8 cents and May $1.09 7-8 to $1.10 was followed by gains all around.

Subsequently week-end adjustment of trades helped to sustain values. Close firm, 1/2 to 1 cent higher, with December $1.06 1/2 to 1/2 and May $1.10 1/2.

ENFORCEMENT OF LAWS HELD A JOINT DUTY

sale of such narcotics. Their use is in part to stay off disease and perhaps in part for lack of moral stamina but their abuse is almost wholly a result of violations of the law. If the law can be enforced medical science would very soon rid the country of this menace. This traffic is carried on secretly and evasively. It can only be detected and eradicated through local inspectors and police. The national secret service and officers can cope with the whole-salers and smugglers but the peddlers and retailers can only be suppressed with the aid of state and municipal police.

Liquor Problem.

The other problem which I wish to lay before you is that of intoxicating liquors. The 18th amendment was proposed by Congress in 1917 and its ratification proclaimed in 1919. It prohibits the manufacture, sale or transportation and the importation and exportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes and confers upon the Congress and the several states concurrent power to enact enforcement legislation. This power was exercised by the Congress in the national prohibition act, which was finally passed in October, 1919, two-thirds of the House of Representatives present, having voted in the affirmative. Substantially all of the states have likewise passed enforcing acts under the authority of the 18th amendment.

"In all states there have long been laws regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors and in many of the states prohibition had already been adopted.

"Neither the amendment nor the prohibition act undertakes to relieve the states of their responsibility relative to intoxicating liquors but on the other hand the amendment confers jurisdiction upon them and the prohibition act authorizes state and local prosecuting attorneys to bring injunction proceedings having equity powers in the name of the United States."

RESTRICTION OF SIGNS ON ROADS URGED

Too Many Confusing, Destroy
Beauty of Highways and
Values of Official Signs

AUTO CLUB TO ACT

Branding unnecessary danger signs and "stop" signals used for advertising purposes along public highways as being dangerous, many automobile clubs are campaigning with the co-operation of the State for their removal.

In some of the Eastern states where the traffic on main highways is heavy, instances are reported where automobile flash "stop-railroad crossing" signs have been put up by National advertisers 300 feet in advance of a spur track crossing the highway where the tracks are used once or twice a month, just because the location was ideal from an advertising standpoint. On the same highways where these signs were needed, they were often found missing. In New Jersey at a wide place in the road, a cut-out painted figure representing a traffic officer and semaphores on the arms of which are painted the words "stop" with the name of the tea house underneath, blocks traffic. The figure of the traffic officer is so realistic that motorists who are not acquainted with the deception will instinctively obey the semaphores.

department has requested the Motor Vehicle department to have removed "stop" signs placed by property owners in advance of private roads leading from the homes to the main highway, maintaining that it is the duty of these owners to stop before driving onto the main highway.

The danger of the use of warning signs or stop signals on the highways where they are not required makes the motorists who have been "fobbed" by unnecessary signs careless when he approaches a warning signals which is properly placed for his protection, points out the Transportation Bureau of the A. A. A. It is the purpose of the A. A. A. clubs to check up on the use of warning signals on the highways in their territory and take such steps as may be necessary to have misleading signs removed.

ROOSEVELT HOME FILLED WITH TOKENS

Many of Articles Used by Teddy During His Life Time Sent To Fill House

CRADLE APPEARS

New York, Oct. 20.—A huge stuffed lion, bagged in one of his hunting expeditions, a frying pan, a cartoon by Tom Nast, are only three diversified articles of the hundreds of manuscripts, pictures and mementoes of all sorts which have gravitated to Roosevelt House, the restored birthplace of Theodore Roosevelt at No. 25 East 20th Street, Manhattan. The house is to be dedicated October 27.

A set of scrapbooks giving the career of Mr. Roosevelt, as told from day to day in the press, is one of the notable additions to be received by the Roosevelt Association during the last year. This set of books was started by the President's father, continued by his family. In it are some passages in Roosevelt's own handwriting, as well as a number of letters he wrote while at Harvard. Supplementing the original cartoon of Theodore Roosevelt drawn by Nast for Harper's Weekly in 1882 and later presented by the family, an exposure of the "Tweed Ring" to the President, are many other cartoons from foreign and American pens graphically recording Roosevelt's colorful career.

Dwight Franklin's miniature plastic group of Roosevelt, his son Kermit, and gun bearers hunting in South Africa is a unique addition to the collection. The figures in this group are six inches high and have been colored and set in a miniature stage. The group is strikingly realistic.

The cradle in which one of the outstanding figures of history was rocked, and his last public message, also have been incorporated in the collection. Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., wife of the present Assistant Secretary of the Navy, presented the cradle. The message, a letter to Richard M. Hurd, was donated by its recipient.

Nels Levin has started construction of three additional houses in Bismarck, to be completed yet this fall, to meet the demand for small houses. They are to be at the corner of Avenue D and Fourth street, of modern bungalow type. The foundation has been laid and work is to be pushed as fast as possible. It is understood work may be started yet this fall on one or two other houses in Bismarck, increasing the building total for the year to 35 to 40 houses. In proportion to population Bismarck is building more houses this year than any other city in the state, reports from various cities indicate.

High Quality Potatoes Command High Price, A. C. Extension Official Finds

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 20.—Prices offered for potatoes this fall furnish another of the long procession of illustrations of the fact that farmers who produce a high quality product can command a profitable price for their product. In the statement of E. A. Willson, of the North Dakota Extension division, who finds that farmers of McKenzie county are securing a price of $1.25 per bushel for their potatoes, while prevailing prices over the state range from 20 to 40 cents per bushel for the average product.

"McKenzie county potato growers are producing high quality Triumph potatoes, which are true to type and remarkably free from disease," Mr. Willson declares. "Last year they sent their county agent to Texas and Louisiana to open up a market for seed potatoes, and due to the quality of the samples they submitted, they had little trouble in disposing of all good seed stock at prices which netted them about one dollar per bushel. This year they have built a warehouse at Arnegard and will store their potatoes there. When I was there a few days ago the grocery stores were paying them $1.25 per bushel for their potatoes, and the growers declared that they would not take any less."

"They have a fair crop, about equal to the average for the state, but the percentage of marketable tubers is much higher than in most districts. Many of the farmers have been very careful in practicing seed treatment and selection, and they have been further aided in disease control by the fact that the country is new and the soil is not full of diseases. The climate is also favorable to check disease development."

FIRE BURNS WAREHOUSE

Firemen Called Out at 2 a. m.

Fire which was discovered at 2 o'clock this morning badly damaged the frame warehouse and ice house of Andrew Person on Broadway, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets. The warehouse was almost burned down and the roof was burned off the ice house.

The department was called a second time, about 6 o'clock, this fire being in the ice house.

Firemen say they were unable to determine the origin of the fire. Mr. Person, who said he did not know of the fire until sometime after it happened, also said he was unable to determine the origin. The heaviest loss, he said, was a new electric motor valued at $300. Odds and ends used in construction work also were in the warehouse.

There was no insurance on the place, Mr. Person said, the insurance companies having cancelled the insurance a couple of years ago.

Efforts were made to find the survivors but no trace of them was discovered. Another sea tragedy was added to the already long list of those as yet unexplained when a Greenland whaler came upon a strange looking derelict, battered and weather-worn, apparently built in the last century and ice bound for years. RESTRICTION OF SIGNS ON ROADS URGED

Beauty of Highways and
Values of Official Signs

AUTO CLUB TO ACT

Branding unnecessary danger signs and "stop" signs used for advertising purposes along public highways as being dangerous, many automobile clubs affiliated with the American Automobile association Highway departments are campaigning with the co-operation of the State for their removal.

In some of the Eastern states where the traffic on main highways is heavy, instances are reported where automobile flash "stop-railroad crossing" signs have been put up by National advertisers 300 feet in advance of a spur track crossing the highway where the tracks are used once or twice a month, just because the location was ideal from an advertising standpoint. On the same highways where these signs were needed, they were often found missing. In New Jersey at a wide place in the road, a cut-out painted figure representing a traffic officer and semaphore on the arms of which are painted the words "stop" with the name of the tea house underneath, blocks traffic. The figure of the traffic officer is so realistic under the glare of headlights that motorists who are not acquainted with the semaphore will instinctively obey the semaphore.

department has requested the Motor Vehicle department to have removed "stop" signs placed by property owners in advance of private roads leading from the homes to the main highway, maintaining that it is the duty of these owners to stop before driving onto the main highway. The danger of the use of warning signs or stop signs on the highways where they are not required makes the motorists who have been "foiled" by unnecessary signs careless when he approaches a warning sign which is properly placed for his protection, points out the Tourist Transportation Bureau of the A. A. A. It is the purpose of the A. A. A. clubs to check up on the use of warning signs on the highways in their territory and take such steps as may be necessary to have misleading signs removed.

New York, Oct. 20.—A huge stuffed lion, bagged in one of his hunting expeditions, a frying pan, a cartoon by Tom Nast, are only three of the hundreds of the hundreds of mementoes of all sorts which have gravitated to Roosevelt House, the restored birthplace of Theodore Roosevelt at No. 28 East 20th Street, Manhattan. The house is to be dedicated October 27.

A set of scrapbooks giving the career of Mr. Roosevelt, as told from day to day in the press, is one of the notable additions to be received by the Roosevelt Association during the last year. This set of books was started by the President's father, continued by himself, and concluded by members of his family. In it are some passages in Roosevelt's own handwriting, as well as a number of letters he wrote while at Harvard. Supplementing the original cartoon of Theodore Roosevelt drawn by Nast for Harper's Weekly in 1882 and later presented by the famous exposé of the "Tweed Ring" to the President, are many other cartoons from foreign and American pens graphically recording Roosevelt's colorful career.

Dwight Franklin's miniature plastic group of Roosevelt, his son Kermit, and gun bearers hunting in South Africa is a unique addition to the collection. The figures in this group are six inches high and have been colored and set in a miniature stage. The group is strikingly realistic.

The cradle in which one of the outstanding figures of history was rocked, and his last public message also have been incorporated in the collection. Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., wife of the present Assistant Secretary of the Navy, presented the cradle. The message, a letter to Richard M. Hurd, was donated by its recipient.

Six hundred bound volumes of back numbers of the New York Herald, Times and World covering an important stage of Mr. Roosevelt's life, were presented by Frank A. Munsey, publisher of the Herald. A costly riding outfit, the gift of the Brazilian government at the time of the Colonel's River of Doubt expedition is there.

MARKET NEWS
WHEAT FIRM ON BOARD MART

Lightness of Offerings Leads To An Upturn Today

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Buying by shorts who found offerings were light brought about a moderate upturn in wheat today during early dealings. The market was also influenced somewhat by the fact that the movement of spring wheat to the leading terminals has become small compared with a year ago. Besides the run of winter wheat is of modest proportions.

Opening prices which varied from unchanged to 3-8 cents higher with December $1.04 3-4 to 7-8 cents and May $1.09 7-8 to $1.10 was followed by gains around.

Subsequently, wheat and adjustment of grades helped to sustain values. Close 6-1/2% to 1 cent higher with December $1.05% to 1/2 and May $1.10%.

act, which was finally passed in October, 1919, two-thirds of the House of Representatives present, having voted in the affirmative. Substantially all of the states have likewise passed enforcing acts under the authority of the 18th amendment.

"In all states there have long been laws regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors and in many of the states prohibition had already been adopted.

"Neither the amendment nor the prohibition act undertakes to relieve the states of their responsibility relative to intoxicating liquors but on the other hand the amendment confers jurisdiction upon them and the prohibition act authorizes state and local prosecuting attorneys to bring injunction proceedings having equity powers in the name of the United States."

Swagger, Semi-Sport Coats,
Made in Several Patterns

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

Along came fall, striving to appease us for the passing summer by bringing with it beautiful new apparel. Its most triumphant and captivating gift appears in swagger, semi-sports coats, that have turned the heads of womankind— young and old. In casting about for a name for these coats nothing has been uncovered better suited to their character than "semi-sports" coats— which means that they may be worn almost anywhere, either for actual sports or wherever the usual business of the day takes one. Heavy felt wool cloths of camel's hair, brushed wool or other furry weaves, with predominating colors in cooler tones, are the mediums used for these spirited coats. There are three lengths—short, three-quarter and long, the middle length being shown in the illustration, and the colors liked best are tan, beige, brown and white with darker or livelier colors introduced in the plaids and stripes. Many of the looser coats have simple fur collars. Border decorations appear on the shorter coats, as in the one shown here. This is a downy, white, at fall, of brushed wool, with black stripes for borders. Large and very handsome buttons are featured in nearly all semi-sports coats and appear on this model in white on black. The front of the coat and the collar are bound with heavy silk braid. CAPITAL.
He twirled the pistol, loaded with destiny. No comparison was expressed on his grim face. The other man won the throw. He seized the pistol and fired at the unprotected chest of the man, confronting him with unblinking eyes. The trigger clicked harmlessly. The coward, in a panic, realized the other man would get a chance to fire, and without warring, he fired again. The trigger again clicked harmlessly. Without a sound, the man leaped on his assailant. They grappled, both trying to gain control of the pistol. On the hillside, revelling in the pastoral beauty of the countryside,

REVIVAL LEADER

COLONEL SAMUEL L. BRENGLE, D. D.

Colonel Samuel L. Brengle, D. D., internationally known spiritual leader and author, will be in Bismarck next Tuesday for a series of revival meetings. Colonel Brengle is one of the leading platform men of the Salvation Army, and has directed revival work throughout the world. He was welcomed to the Northern division of the Army by Colonel William S. Barker, divisional commander, Minneapolis, through whose efforts arrangements for Colonel Brengle's presence were completed. Hundreds of persons attended the revival meetings in Minneapolis, Devils Lake, Grand Forks and Fargo. Plans of Colonel Brengle include a three-month tour of the division, and include many revival meetings in cities and towns of Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

square feet of wall board, plaster board and button bath were required. There are eight castle towers. If these towers were water tanks, each would hold 276,000 gallons. The castle is surrounded by a moat, built from historically correct specifications, broad enough and deep enough to serve as a genuine barrier against the taking of this stronghold. The royal banquet room in the castle is the largest room in the world, being larger even than the concourse of the Pennsylvania Terminal Station in New York City. Twenty thousand yards of heavy velvet and rich cloth material were used in making the 2,500 costumes worn by principals, players and extras. More than one thousand wigs, each made of human hair, are worn by members of the cast. Every weapon carried in the production was made entirely by hand. There are 2,000 spears, 1,500 swords, 2,000 shields and 500 daggers. In making an exact duplicate of the standard used by King Richard I in his Crusade to the Holy Land, 300 pounds of iron were necessary. An army of 10,000 extra people is being employed in various scenes at various times. The prodigious use of hand-work on all effects in "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood," is not a careless extravagance, but serves to illustrate the absolute authenticity of the production, for in the period depicted machinery was little used, metals and almost all materials being worked by hand.

STANDARDS

Decision to Inaugurate Four Years' Course Reached
By National Body

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 20.—Promoting higher cultural standards in music, following the organization's decision to inaugurate a four years' course of study on the understanding and appreciation of music, the National Federation of Music Clubs, through its more than 1,500 chapters in the United States, "has taken another step in the right direction," according to Helen Harrison Mills, national chairman of publicity headquarters here. An outline of the course is being prepared for distribution by Frank A. Seiberling of Akron, chairman of the department. The announcement said, and will be designed especially for adoption by choral societies or the large clubs mainly interested in presenting afternoon or evening recitals. Special honors will be given clubs completing two years of the course at the Portland, Oregon, biennial in 1925, and greater recognition paid to those finishing the entire four years' course at the 1927 biennial. Equal emphasis in the organization's work is to be placed upon the plan to give the American artist the same footing with foreign artists on the concert programs sponsored for by the music clubs. The federation at its last convention resolved to engage at least fifty per cent American artists in the future. Open New Field Another field of musical endeavor was opened in the decision to institute a department of music in industry, with Miss Ruth Antonette Seibel, head of the Bureau of Industrial Music, in charge. Instructions to each of the units urging them to redouble their efforts to obtain legislation looking toward the establishment of a National Conservatory of Music, have been issued, according to the announcement, and also that the federation's committee on legislation continue to seek the active cooperation of all other national associations toward this end. Steps already have been taken in congress to provide for the appointment of a commission of 21 persons representing all classes and phases of music in order that when the Conservatory is organized it will be broadly democratic.

Swagger, Semi-Sport Coats, Made in Several Patterns

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

Along came fall, striving to appease us for the passing summer by bringing with it beautiful new apparel. Its most triumphant and captivating gift appears in swagger, semi-sports coats, that have turned the heads of womankind— young and old.

In casting about for a name for these coats nothing has been uncovered better suited to their character than "semi-sports" coats—which means that they may be worn almost anywhere, either for actual sports or wherever the usual business of the day takes one.

Heavy soft wool cloths of camel's hair, brushed wool or other furry weaves, with predominating colors in quiet tones, are the mediums used for these spirited coats. There are three lengths—short, three-quarter and long, the middle length being shown in the illustration, and the colors liked best are tan, beige, brown and white with darker or livelier colors introduced in the plaids and stripes. Many of the longer coats have ample fur collars. Border decorations appear on the shorter coats, as in the one shown here. This is a downy, white air of brushed wool, with black stripes for borders. Large and very handsome buttons are featured in nearly all semi-sports coats, and appear on this model in white on black. The front of the coat and the collar are bound with heavy silk braid.

He seized the pistol and fired at the unprotected chest of the man, confronting him with unblinking eyes. The trigger clicked harmlessly. They grappled, both trying to gain control of the pistol.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

WHY NOT A CORN PALACE?
It will be most unfortunate if the people of North Dakota, and especially those on the Missouri Slope and in the Bismarck area—the real corn section of North Dakota—permit the present free corn crop to be harvested and the next season begin without having heralded to the country in the most impressive manner possible the fact that North Dakota is in the corn belt to stay.

When people of the country at large think of corn they call to mind immediately Iowa, Illinois and Indiana. A few experiences of the immediate past have shown that people but a few hundred miles from Bismarck have not thought it possible for North Dakotans to raise fine corn and in abundance. Perhaps too few people in North Dakota alone appreciate what the development in corn raising—and the production has been increased and the quality bettered only through careful building up process—really means. If North Dakota can raise a corn crop this year of which all can be proud, it is certain that constant improvement in the seed, the soil and methods of cultivation in the next ten years will mark a greater progress.

The Tribune has suggested and urged that a North Dakota Corn Show and Agricultural Fair be established at Bismarck. Such a show ought to be in the capital of the state. Here it would attract wide attention. In this connection it might be recalled that the Cotton Palace at Waco, Texas, the Corn Palace at Sioux City, Iowa, caught the public fancy with the country over and identified permanently the product with the city. Why not a corn palace in Bismarck in connection with a corn show?

A LIVELY INTEREST
That a healthy interest is being taken in this section of the state in the subject of dairying was indicated by the great crowd which visited the train carrying some of the best cattle in the world. It was gratifying to hear from the manager of the train that the crowd at Bismarck was the largest that had seen the fine cattle, horses, and ponies. Perhaps the most interesting statement told by those in charge of the train was that of Ovard Pickard of Oregon, whose grand champion Jersey cow was on the train. Mr. Pickard started a poor man on a small farm in Oregon. He never has had more than forty or fifty cattle. But he devoted to raise good cattle. By close study, good care and careful selection he improved his cattle from generation to generation until he has produced four champions. He has made money.

It is no inspiration to go to a barn at 4 o'clock in the morning and gaze upon a bunch of scrub cattle but it means something to a dairy farmer of Mr. Pickard's type to be able to do this and see before him cattle which are in demand all over the United States for exhibition purposes. Thus far the question has never been raised seriously as to whether or not dairying can be carried to such a degree in this country that there will be an overproduction and the dairy farmers will suffer as the wheat farmers suffer. Interesting was Prof. Bulkey's statement regarding this possibility. He said that half the people of the world knew nothing about dairy products and that in the evaporated milk business it is calculated that eight per cent of the possible market is developed and 92 per cent of the market is open for development. His statement that it will not be possible to overdo the dairy cattle business in the next generation is reasonable.

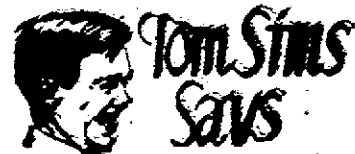

GREATEST POWER
The greatest power so far discovered by man is electricity. We all know this instinctively. That's why we get a creepy feeling on our spines when we are caught out in a storm and see electricity in its natural state—lightning. It's often said that we live in an Electrical Age. Yet, despite the fact that many ways electricity has been harnessed, only 111 million people—of the world's total population of at least 1700 millions—live in electrically lighted houses.

Of these 111 millions, 39 millions are Americans. But we have barely started to harness it. In electricity you see The Future Power, though, as usual, it is taking a fearfully long time to get a wonderful discovery into general use.

MAIL-ORDER
Sears-Roebuck mail-order sales in first nine months this year were a fourth larger than in the corresponding period of 1922. The other big catalog house, Montgomery-Ward, had a 52 per cent gain in business. Which means that farmers have been buying quite heavily for farmers make up the bulk of mail-order business. It's the city man's interest for farmers to have their full share of the national prosperity. When they get it, they'll buy city-made products with a vengeance. Most of their buying lately has been compulsory. They're still far behind their needs.

PREPARATION FOR DEATH
A man here today and gone tomorrow. A Boston real estate man, Loren D. Davis, became fabulously rich at 49. To prepare for his life's dream he built a two million dollar palace. It was finished, ready to move into, when the owner died.

Now that the world series is over footballers come to pass.

Football players are among the few who are chosen for kicking.

Zupke of Illinois is a football coach even if he does sound like a foreigner asking for soup.

While Zupke writes football plays he is not a player. He writes so they won't play wrong.

Best football players come from the broad open spaces where men are men and women are girls.

While the football season ends on Thanksgiving this is not the original excuse for Thanksgiving.

Learning football is no easy matter. Arroguing with traffic cops and ice men is fine training.

Football way to learn football is by kicking every lap-dog you see and then running.

Football players must be tough. They must be tough as cafe steaks. Eating cafe steaks will help them.

Never find a football player on raw meat. It is dangerous. He may bite off his girl's nose.

Looking for needles in haystacks will train a football player's eyes to see the point.

Football is better than golf. Every body knows where the ball is.

Best way to train a footballer is make him fall in love. Then he will fight like a hedhog.

What's a little romance between a girl and her football hero? Nothing. It is on her lips.

Footballers must know open field running. Dodging autos helps in this. Never stiffen a limousine.

Everybody should know football. A good football player can trip a collector and stop in his tracks.

Football enables one to kick a burglar in the eye and take his watches and pocketbooks.

Women should learn football. It would help in bargain counter rushes and opening night windows.

Never play football with your mouth open. When you brush your teeth you may find an extra ear.

Teach the family football. No neighbor would dare talk about a family of football players.

Buy the baby a football. Tell him football players don't cry. Saves you lots of singing.

This whole town needs football. It everybody could kick everybody, they wouldn't have to do it.

If everybody in the United States learned to play football we could chase the hook agents ragged.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

Kitty-Kat Kittens was a soft ball of fur. She looked like silk and felt like silk, all but her claws and her teeth. She looked and felt like sharp curved needles.

She was very proud of her claws. Kitty-Kat knew, because she was just learning how to use them. Her mother, Misses Tabby, had showed her.

Besides, she had sat for hours and watched Thomas Mouser at work. She had learned how to stretch herself out on the ground like he did, and crawl along on her belly.

And she had also learned how to climb half way up a tree without falling off. And she had learned to use her eyes, too. One minute they would be like large blue moons, and the next minute they would look like bits of green steel with slits in them, especially if she saw a bird or a mouse.

What she would have done with them, she had caught either one, goodness only knows, because she was too little to eat anything but milk.

One day Nancy and Nick and Mister Dodger, the fairman, were walking through Squeaky-Moo Land to see if everybody was safe and sound, when they came across Kitty-Kat Kittens in a stubble field, crouching down between the rows of still, yellow stalks and looking like a little gray stone.

Mister Dodger pulled the Twins aside. "Watch!" he whispered. "She's after a field-mouse. And if you look over to the old hickory tree, you'll see Misses Cat reaching too!"

Just then, Kitty-Kat Kittens began to move, crawling slowly on her stomach toward the old hickory tree. Misses Cat sat there staring. She couldn't see very well in the day time, but her four babies weren't dim enough yet to hunt for their own lunches and she had to catch their mice for them.

All at once she spotted the tiny gray mouse right under her.

"Aha!" she thought. "There's one more! An unusually large one. I'll have to be quick!"

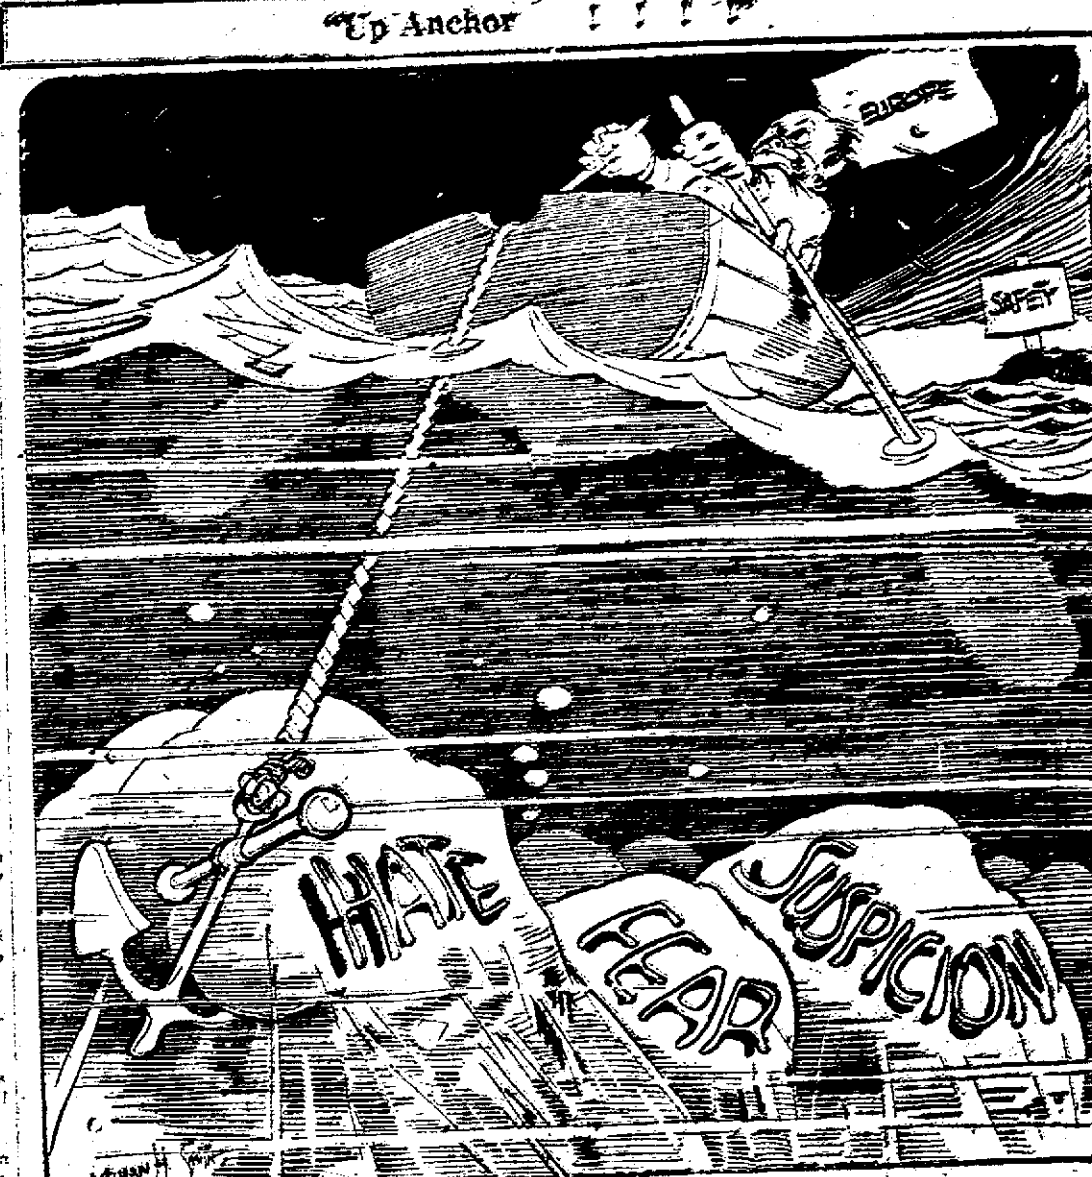

And she swooped down at a bound. In two seconds she was on top of the mouse, her claws digging into its back.

"Mew!" she said, and she was in a city, frantically waving her paws.

Mister Dodger was the first to see what was going on. He was about to climb a tree when he saw that there was a flash of Misses Tabby streaking past.

She was on the tree, and she could see the mouse.

And then such a feather scatter-

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER

I expect if you are really interested in my affairs, little Marquise, that you have been wondering why I have not written a letter before this to put away in your little secret drawer.

The truth of the matter is, I have been away. You cannot imagine how terribly I felt when I found out that I was ill and Jack would be the master of the house by insisting that I should go to bed.

At last I decided that I would pretend to get the money from mother, and I would sell one or two of those beads from the jeweler's carefully hidden in a small box, carried by one of my maids, by another as a bodyguard. I tell you I was impressed and very glad that Jack was not at home.

They counted the beads very carefully before me several different times and I found that because of the tiny knots the string was much longer and I could take off a good many without its being really noticed.

Both men suggested that I should put them immediately in a safe deposit vault. I thanked them and told them that I would.

After they were gone I sewed them carefully into a pocket which I had secretly fastened to my chemise. Isn't it strange, little Marquise, what knowledge will do? When I did not know the pearls were real I never worried about them. They lay around my dressing table and even hung over my electric fixture with my dressing table with my other beads. But now that I know they are worth over two hundred thousand dollars, I am simply worried to death to have them about.

Jack was determined that I should take the next train to mother's that night and not knowing how to make an excuse for not going, I let him buy the tickets, wondering what I should do with them. For once I was glad that he let some trivial thing keep him from going to the station with me for when I got there alone I exchanged the tickets for New York.

I sat up in my state room during the whole journey and when I got into New York it seemed to me that I was looking at a new world. I was carrying such a valuable package about me.

After I had arrived in New York, I didn't know exactly what to do. My whole family was well known at Tiffany's and the other big jewel stores. Finally I decided to take the bull by the horns and I went to see old Mr. Cocoran, who had been my father's attorney as long as I could remember.

He was delighted to see me. Called me "little girl" just like he used to and was so concerned when I told him about my father's back to what I wanted to say to him. Finally I got the matter out.

MANDAN NEWS

Thompson Sustains Broken Neck
H. Thompson of Flasher, about 70, was instantly killed, it is believed, shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning when he fell or was thrown from a wagon and sustained a broken neck.

Thompson, an unmarried man, was a resident of the Flasher district for many years and left Mandan yesterday morning about 9 o'clock for his farm a few miles away. About an hour after his departure his team returned without their driver and upon search being made Thompson's body was found lying beside the road with his neck broken.

Funeral services will probably be held Sunday.

Traveling Man Escapes Narrowly

Walter Keller, traveling salesman for the Mandan Washington Fruit company and a friend from Killdeer had a narrow escape from death or serious injury when the former Dodge coupe in which the two were riding rolled down a steep grade beside the road today morning.

Between Killdeer and Bismarck Tuesday when a horse grazing beside the road became frightened by the lights and jumped in front of the machine in such a manner as to send its front legs into the closed car.

The machine swerved and went down a steep embankment rolling over twice and then catching fire. Keller and his companion were able to extricate themselves. While neither man sustained any serious injuries the car was completely destroyed.

Find Aged Man Who Wanders Away

L. T. Carter, 78, for more than 20 years a resident of Bismarck, was found yesterday morning by a neighbor near his farm.

Carter, who lives at the hillside, a few miles from the city, had been missing since Thursday afternoon.

His wife and his son, who lives in Chicago for some months, had just returned Thursday afternoon on N. P. train No. 3. They encountered Carter and his wife, who were naturally popular since heads of these stones have become so scarce.

SIGHT SEEN UNDER SEA

With Glass Bottomed Boat Passengers View Wonderful Scene

The Blue-Grey beauty of the sea, best seen under the Society Island, extending toward the west, has been opened to visitors, like a beautiful picture gallery, by the opening of a new glass bottomed boat at Papeete, who has constructed a boat with a glass bottom.

The boat is at along both sides of the boat in such a way as to enable them to see through the glass bottom as one would through a window.

The boat is driven out to the reef, where only a mile or two from the shore, by means of a small motor. When the reef is reached the boat is either rowed or driven by the motor very slowly over the reef, the beauties of which can be vividly seen.

It is a veritable fairyland, with wonderful shapes and colors changed by a strangely colored coral reef during its and out among the coral.

The scene can best be likened to a miniature landscape viewed from above, whose mountains of coral come close to the bottom of the boat, the hillsides being represented by growths of coral looking like Japanese dwarf trees, but in pink and white instead of green.

Here and there the curves of every size and shape, in and out of which fish dart.

Further west is added to the trip by the Tahiti boat boy diving overboard and disappearing himself under the boat, among the coral reefs and fishes.

Marrying Off His Daughters

By MORRIS SCHULTZ

The four Lee girls held a peculiar position in Honolulu. Their father was a Chinese; their mother had been an American school teacher who had converted him and married him. Lee was one of the richest men in the islands.

He had brought up his daughters with every luxury.

The Lee house, almost a palace, was the resort of many a young man of wealth and position. Except for a slight oddness of their flashing, black eyes and a dead whiteness of skin, the Lees could not have been distinguished from any other wealthy and well-to-do American young women.

There was Dora, 14, Mildred and Fannie. Each of them had her lover. Each hoped to marry, and marry well.

And there was old yellow Lee, crawling from his bed at his office and home, wearing carpet slippers at home, eating with chopsticks—but he ate his heathen meals in his own room. The girls adored their father, but—

"He's so out of things," sighed Dora. "He's not interested in adjusting himself, and he doesn't care."

"What was going on behind those inscrutable Mongolian eyes?" Lee was thinking; he was the shrewdest man in the islands.

One day he announced a dinner party. Lee's announcement amounted to a command. The four young girls were asked—nobody else. There was Clavin, the young naval officer; Herbiefield, whose father owned several hundred acres of pineapple plantation; Jackson, a thriving young business man; and Howard of the civil service. The Lee girls had been greatly reduced during the last year by the inflation of the "cat" in proper cases. Certain raffians, with no respect for age or sex, who committed these crimes, could only be fittingly punished in this way. He had no doubt if the "cat" could be indicted for burglary the same happy result would follow.

Used Oil in Old Babylon. The oil industry had its birth in the United States about 1859, when crude oil was analyzed and a well was drilled at Titusville, Pa.

But the Indians, and the races before them, knew crude oil. Thousands of years before Christ, Babylonians and Chaldean masons used in semi-liquid form for cementing the bricks of their towering walls, and the Indians used it in building the pyramids, says the Indianapolis News. Herodotus mentions a well from which three substances—oil, asphalt, and salt—were pumped.

Oil from natural springs in Sicily was used in lamps in the temple of Jupiter at Agrigento, and the wealthy illuminated their homes with it. The Chinese and the Persians used it for light and heat, and it enters into the preservatives of the Egyptian embalmers.

First Ghetto Was in Italy. The ghetto was the Jewish quarter of an Italian city. Pope Paul IV, in 1555, established the ghetto of Rome, and it existed until 1885, when it was removed to make way for the new embankment of the Tiber. The Jews were at one time closely confined to that part of the city, and were not allowed outside its limits unless distinguished from the Christians by wearing the men a yellow hat, and the women a veil of the same color. The ghetto was inclosed by a wall, and the gates thereto were locked at night.

TRAVEL BY WATER CHUTE

Flume Filled With Water Offers Thrills in Small Boat Mountaineers of Sierra Nevada.

In the mountains of Sierra Nevada, the water chute, or flume, is used as a means of traveling from one spot to another. The flume is a V-shaped and made of wood. It stands on wooden trestles, sometimes where it crosses deep ravines, of immense height. A swift and strong current of water, chiefly used for floating logs and sawn down timber, is constantly running down the chute.

The boat made to navigate the flume is also V-shaped and fits in the chute. It can be floated down at a rapid pace, but it is not a matter of water. Only one passenger is carried at a time, and he has to sit as far forward as possible in order to fill up the back of the little craft. In steep places the pace is great, quite 20 miles an hour being reached.

Though the flume is full of thrills, though the little craft runs smoothly and as there is no machinery, without vibration. But when once it has started on its journey it cannot be stopped until it reaches its destination. The sensation of rushing along through space at such a speed is wonderful. But it is a mode of traveling that only records some of the thrills of the experience.

'DEMONS' CRUSH DICKINSON BY 27 TO 0 SCORE

Bismarck Team Puts Dickinson Eleven Out of Running For the Championship

LOCALS' OFFENSE STRONG

Forward Passes and Long End Runs Feature Bismarck's Win Away From Home

(Special to The Tribune)

Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 20.—Coach Houser's "Demons" from Bismarck easily outclassed the Dickinson high school football team on the local gridiron Friday afternoon and shattered Dickinson's high hopes for the district championship by a 27 to 0 score. The Bismarckers scored four touchdowns and kicked three goals. The game ended with the ball on Dickinson's five-yard line, the many substitutes put in by Coach Houser during the last quarter continuing to smash the Dickinson defense.

The Bismarck team worked generally in good shape, showing improvement in many respects. Shepard handled the forward pass nicely, making three touchdowns. Alfson, the line plunger, the line for the other score. Both Noddings and O'Hare made a number of good gains around end. The Bismarck line was well high impenetrable and Dickinson gained but little ground during the entire game.

With victories over Mandan and Dickinson the "Demons" need but a victory over Mandan next Saturday to have the southwestern district championship without question.

There was quite a Bismarck reception at the game, the rooters including Jack Oberg, E. T. Burke, N. C. Churchill, J. J. MacLeod, Eric Thorberg and Paul Brown.

The Bismarck team praised the treatment received from Dickinson officials and people.

Dickinson Kicks Off

Dickinson kicked off to Bismarck opening the game, and after three attempts to pierce the Dickinson line the Bismarck aggregation was forced to kick. Dickinson in turn tried the "demons" forward wall and also failed, and punted.

Noddings and Alfson made five yards each for the first first-down of the game, and then O'Hare and Brown made first down. Alfson and Noddings started through the line, plunging for good gains. Noddings and Alfson made eight more through the line and Dickinson was off-side. Bismarck being given a five-yard penalty gain. O'Hare and Alfson plunged through for four yards each, and on the next play the Bismarck backs were in motion before the ball was snapped and Bismarck was penalized five yards. With the goal in sight, Dickinson braced and took the ball from Bismarck on its own five-yard line.

Dickinson punted and a five-yard penalty for off-sides against Bismarck put the ball temporarily out of danger for Dickinson. A penalty helped put the ball in Dickinson's hands but the home team was forced to kick. Noddings and O'Hare tried the Dickinson wings but failed to get around. Alfson made two on a plunge and punted.

Dickinson made first down by hammering the Bismarck line, and the first quarter ended with the ball on Dickinson's 40-yard line.

The Second Quarter

Dickinson failed on a fake play and kicked to Bismarck's 25-yard line. O'Hare made three yards and Noddings lost four. A pass, Alfson to Shepard, netted seven yards. Bismarck kicked to Dickinson's 50-yard line. Two line plays failed for Dickinson and an off-side gave a five-yard penalty. Dickinson was forced to punt to Bismarck's 25-yard line.

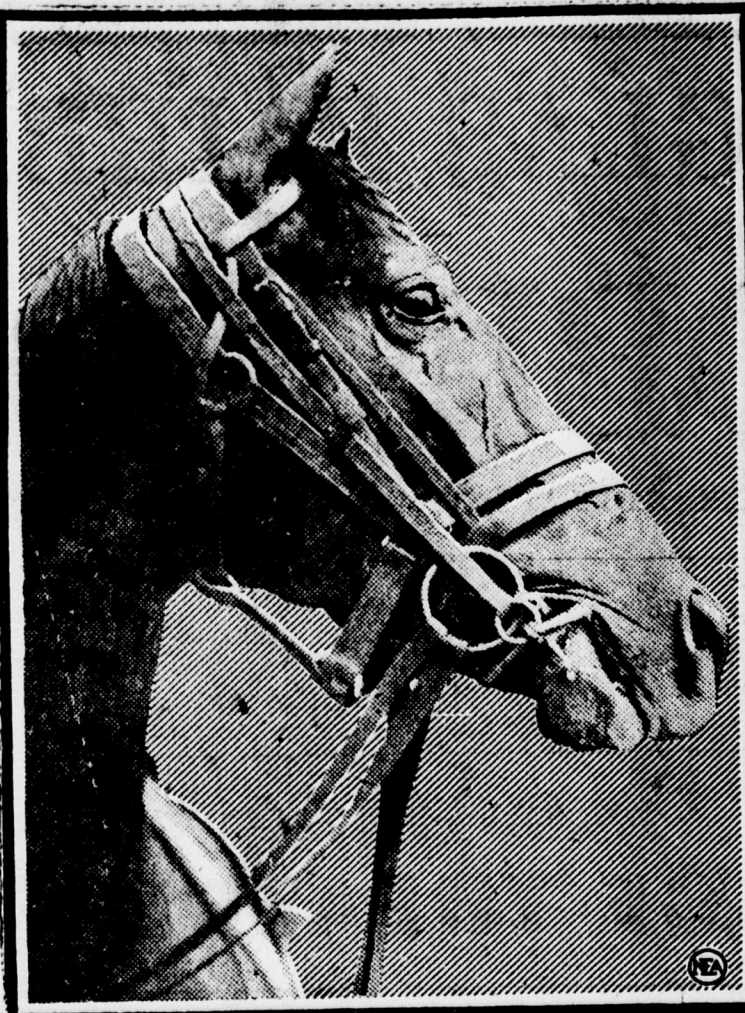

Noddings punted 10 yards on a fake pass and Scott ran 25 yards on a nice fake play. Alfson added 10 more on the same kind of a play, and put the ball on Dickinson's 40-yard line. Alfson passed to Shepard for a touchdown, the first of the game. O'Hare made the place kick. Score Bismarck 7, Dickinson 0.

Bismarck kicked-off over the line. Dickinson put the ball in play on the 20-yard line and kicked 40 yards. Alfson busted the line for six and kicked. Dickinson tried three line bucks for a gain of two yards and was forced to punt to the middle of the field. A pass, Alfson to O'Hare, netted 15 yards. Bismarck was penalized five yards for off-side. Two line plays failed. Alfson passed to O'Hare for 10 yards and kicked over the line. A line-buck gave Dickinson four yards, a pass failed, and another pass gained one yard. Dickinson punted to the center of the field, and time for the half was called.

The Second Half

Bismarck kicked poorly to Dickinson's 40-yard line. Dickinson gained one through the line, three on the next buck, one and three, and lost the ball on downs. Alfson made one yard, Noddings skinned the tackle for 12 and first down. Alfson plunged one yard, made another on an end run and O'Hare ran around end

BIG GAMES ON CARD TODAY

Notre Dame-Princeton Leader Among Intersectional Clashes

New York, Oct. 20.—Football comes into its own today.

Athletic fandom, its attention no longer claimed by the world's series, now turns to the colleges for its thrills and finds awaiting it a most promising list of gridiron engagements. The list includes several battles involving powerful intersectional foes, others bringing together eastern football rivals of equal size and strength, and still more sending brilliant and determined small college elevens against larger, but possibly less well prepared university teams.

The big intersectional game and probably the most largely attended of the day will be that at Princeton, N. J., where the Princeton tiger, which went undefeated last season, meets Knute Rockne's brilliant Notre Dame eleven, recent victor over West Point. Notre Dame is reported the favorite by reason of its army triumph last Saturday and also because Coach Roper of the Tigers has been forced to make several shifts in his lineup owing to injuries, ill or inefficiency.

Important also to the football public are the contests involving Cornell and Colgate at Ithaca, N. Y.; Pennsylvania State and Navy, at State College, Pa.; Pennsylvania and Columbia at Philadelphia. Syracuse and Pittsburgh at the Yankee Stadium, and two intersectional clashes, one between Army and Alabama Poly, at West Point, and the other between Georgia Tech and Georgetown, at Atlanta. At the same time, the impressive Holy Cross against Harvard makes their game one of promise, and Vermont's 1922 defeat of Dartmouth lends to their Burlington clash an added note of interest.

Wilton Beats Woodworth High

Wilton high school's football team beat Woodworth high at Woodworth Friday afternoon by a score of 35 to 7.

Jenson Beats A 200-Pounder

Thor Jenson, Bismarck middle-weight wrestler, weighing in at 150 pounds, defeated George Kastauko, a 200-pounder, at Wilton last night. Jenson took the first fall in 18 minutes with a head scissors and the second in 12 minutes with a straight over-body scissors and leg bar.

Beekeepers Hold Meeting

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 20.—Beekeepers of North Dakota will hold their annual meeting in Fargo, Nov. 23 and 24, according to tentative plans announced today by E. L. Webster, entomologist at the North Dakota Agricultural college and secretary of the North Dakota Beekeeper association. Dr. E. F. Phillips, of the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington, will be the chief speaker at the meeting. Mr. Phillips has an international reputation in beekeeping and, in the opinion of Dr. Webster, has done more than any one else to place beekeeping in the United States in its present position of importance.

PITT'S THROW-IT-ANYWHERE PASS

By NEA Service

Pittsburgh, Oct. 20.—This shows how the throw-it-anywhere pass of the Pittsburgh football eleven is being used this year. The above action is a replay from an actual game, Lafayette being the opposing team. No. 1 in the picture is Pittsburgh's triple-threat artist, who has just tossed to No. 3, Ben Shuler, the ball for a 30-yard advance. No. 3 is Gus Gustafson, Pittsburgh's fullback; No. 4 is Shuler, quarterback; and No. 5 is Jordan, end and captain. All of these players are eligible to receive the pass. If Ben Shuler had been covered, Gustafson would have gone for the ball. And if Gustafson, in turn, had been crowded out of the play, Shuler or Jordan would have been the receiver. Pitt worked the pass nine times out of twelve attempts in this game, an exceptionally high average.

USE FLUID TO LIFT LOADS

Scientist Invents "Bottle That, When Released, Expands at a Rapid Rate"

A scientist has invented a fluid that, when released, expands at a rate that, when translated into power, can perform wonderful feats in the way of lifting loads. At present its chief application seems to be the lifting of automobiles to allow of the mending of punctures. A piston jack is placed under the axle and to the jack is attached a small bottle about one foot long and weighing about three and one-half pounds, equipped with a valve at one end. The handle is turned slightly and the car is promptly lifted off the ground. With one of these little bottles a load of 30,000 pounds—15 tons—can be lifted. The terrific power of the expanding liquid rushes through a pipe and strikes the piston of a jack with irresistible force. Lifting the ordinary automobile is a child's play to this wonderful bottle. If this is true, and if bottles of great size could be constructed, one might imagine great buildings being lifted from their foundations and sent toppling to destruction; if a 3½-pound bottle can lift 15,000 pounds, what would not a one-ton bottle accomplish? Locally it would seem that there is no limit to the weight that could be lifted, given the proper apparatus to apply the power.

The tremendous expanding force of the fluid in the bottle, the inventor says, can be turned to other purposes besides lifting weights. It can be made with it, times inflated in three seconds, fires extinguished (for the escaping gas smother flames), and sparkling drinks carbonated at very low cost.

With one little bottle in the car, the motorist can jack up the vehicle, inflate the worn tire and make himself a cool, sparkling drink to refresh himself after his exertions, so the inventor says.

MISSPEND BEST OF LIFE

Many Modern Writers Would Like to Phrase the Thought So Happily.

"What a deal of good business doth a life in! In scattering compliments, tendering visits, gathering and venting news, following fads and plays, making a little winter love in a dark corner." This sentence from Ben Jonson's "Discoveries" contains a general reflection which every man who has reached the age of thirty-five and has lived in civilized society at any time during the last 500 years has frequently made to himself.

But the precise and personal shade which Jonson gives it by the last nine words of his sentence belongs to himself and to his time; the color which which they paint a commonplace is not that of Milton or Dryden, or Congreve, or Swift, Pope or Johnson, Wordsworth or Shelley, Tennyson or Browning, but it is very near the shade of feeling which many a writer today attempts, much less successfully, to translate into sentences. Lively Old Tortoise Wins Race.
A subject for a new fable from Aesop comes from Bickton, Devon. Visitors on holiday in the district, hearing a Dartmoor farmer boast of the speed of his tortoise, aged ninety, obtain to his time, aged thirty, from a London firm and threw out a challenge for a race. This took place in an orchard in the presence of almost all the inhabitants of the village. A shotgun was used to give the starting signal, it being arranged that the winner should be the tortoise that traveled the greatest distance in ten minutes. The Dartmoor tortoise made off immediately at breakneck speed. His opponent had a brief look around, and then drew in his head beneath his shell, refusing to budge. When the time limit had expired the Dartmoor tortoise had covered 70 yards and the visitor was still at the starting point.

Questioning the Judge.
Aunt Jenny, a Carolina negress, was a great advocate of the rod as a help in child-rearing. As a result of an unmerciful beating which she gave her youngest and "corneriest," she was brought into court one day by outraged neighbors. The judge, after giving her a severe lecture, asked if she had anything to say. "Just one thing, Judge," she replied. "I wants to ax you a question. Was you ever the parent of a perfectly truthless cullud chile?"—Everybody's Magazine.

Vacations.
"Yeah, my wife and I have decided that for our vacation she will stay at home and I'll go to the seashore."
"Shucks! You call that a vacation?"
"Sure it is. She won't have to get up mornings and cook my breakfast and I won't have to get up and eat it! Ain't that vacation?"—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Major Bluntly—Yes.
Maud—How noble! How did it happen?
Major Bluntly—I killed him.—Pearson's Weekly.

"Did he hurt you?"

USE FLUID TO LIFT LOADS

Scientist Invents Liquid That, When Released, Expands at a Rapid Rate.

A scientist has invented a fluid that, when released, expands at a rate that, when translated into power, can perform wonderful feats in the way of lifting loads. As present its chief application seems to be the lifting of motorcars to allow of the mending of punctures. A piston jack is placed under the axle and the jack is attached to a small bottle about one foot long and weighing about three and one-half pounds, equipped with a valve at one end. The handle is turned slightly and the car is promptly lifted off the ground. With one of these little bottles a load of 30,000 pounds—15 tons—can be lifted. The terrific power of the expanding liquid rushes through a pipe and strikes the piston of a jack with irresistible force. Lifting the ordinary automobile is child's play to this wonderful bottle. If this is true, and if bottles of great size could be constructed, one might imagine great buildings being lifted from their foundations and sent toppling to destruction; if a 3 1/2-pound bottle can lift 15,000 pounds, what would not a one-ton bottle accomplish? Logically it would seem that there is no limit to the weight that could be lifted, given the proper apparatus to apply the power.

The tremendous expanding force of the fluid in the bottle, the inventor says, can be turned to other purposes besides lifting weights. Ice can be made with it, tires inflated in three seconds, fires extinguished (for the escaping gas smother flames), and sparkling drinks carbonated at very low cost.

With one little bottle in the car, the motorist can jack up the vehicle, inflate the new tire and make himself a cool, sparkling drink to refresh himself after his exertions, so the inventor says.

MISSPEND BEST OF LIFE

Many Modern Writers Would Like to Phrase the Thought So Happily.

"What a deal of cold business doth a man misspend the better part of life in! In scattering compliments, tendering visits, gathering and venting news, following fads and plays, making a little winter love in a dark corner!"

This sentence from Ben Jonson's "Discoveries" contains a general reflection which every man who has reached the age of thirty-five and has lived in civilized society at any time during the last 500 years has frequently made to himself.

But the precise and personal shade which Jonson gives it by the last nine words of his sentence belong to himself and to his time; the color with which they paint a commonplace is not that of Milton or Dryden, of Congreve or Swift, Pope or Johnson, Wordsworth or Shelley, Tennyson or Browning, but it is very near the shade of feeling which many a writer today attempts, much less successfully, to translate into sentences.—The Nation and the Athenaeum of London.

Lively Old Tortoise Wins Race.

A subject for a new fable from Aesop comes from Bickton, Devon. Visitors on holiday in the district, hearing a Dartmoor farmer boast of the speed of his tortoise, aged ninety, obtained another tortoise, aged sixty, from a London firm and threw out a challenge for a race. This took place in an orchard in the presence of almost all the inhabitants of the village. A shotgun was used to give the starting signal, it being arranged that the winner should be the tortoise that traveled the greatest distance in ten minutes. The Dartmoor tortoise made off immediately at breakneck speed. His opponent had a brief look around, and then drew in his head beneath his shell, refusing to budge. When the time limit had expired the Dartmoor tortoise had covered 70 yards and the visitor was still at the starting point.

'DEMONS' CRUSH DICKINSON BY 27 TO 0 SCORE

Bismarck Team Puts Dickinson Eleven Out of Running For the Championship

LOCALS' OFFENSE STRONG

Forward Passes and Long End Runs Feature Bismarck's Win Away From Home

(Special to The Tribune) Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 20.—Coach Houser's "Demons" from Bismarck easily outclassed the Dickinson high school football team on the local gridiron Friday afternoon and shattered Dickinson's high hopes for the district championship by a 27 to 0 score. The Bismarckers scored four touchdowns and kicked three goals.

The game ended with the ball on Dickinson's five-yard line, the many substitutes put in by Coach Houser during the last quarter continuing to smash the Dickinson defense.

The Bismarck team worked generally in good shape, showing improvement in many respects. Shepard handled the forward pass nicely, making three touchdowns. Alfson plunged through the line for the other score. Both Noddings and O'Hare made a number of good gains around end. The Bismarck line was well high impenetrable and Dickinson gained but little ground during the entire game.

With victories over Mandan and Dickinson the "Demons" need but a victory over Mandan next Saturday to have the southwestern district championship without question.

There was quite a Bismarck section at the game, the rosters including Jack Oberg, E. T. Burke, N. C. Churchill, J. J. MacLeod, Eric Thorberg and Paul Brown.

Dickinson Kicks Off

Dickinson kicked off to Bismarck opening the game, and after three attempts to pierce the Dickinson line the Bismarck aggression was forced to kick. Dickinson in turn tried the "Demons" forward wall and also failed, and punted.

Noddings and Alfson made five yards each for the first first-down of the game, and then O'Hare and Brown made first down. Alfson and Noddings started through the line, plunging for good gains. Noddings and Alfson made eight more through the line and Dickinson was off-side. Bismarck being given a five-yard penalty gain. O'Hare and Alfson plunged through for four yards each, and on the next play the Bismarck backs were in motion before the ball was snapped and Bismarck was penalized five yards. With the goal in sight, Dickinson braced and took the ball from Bismarck on its own five-yard line.

Dickinson punted and a five-yard penalty for off-side against Bismarck put the ball temporarily out of danger for Dickinson. A penalty helped put the ball in Dickinson's hands but the home team was forced to kick. Noddings and O'Hare tried the Dickinson wings but failed to get around. Alfson made two on a plunge and punted.

Dickinson made first down by hammering the Bismarck line, and the first quarter ended with the ball on Dickinson's 40-yard line.

The Second Quarter

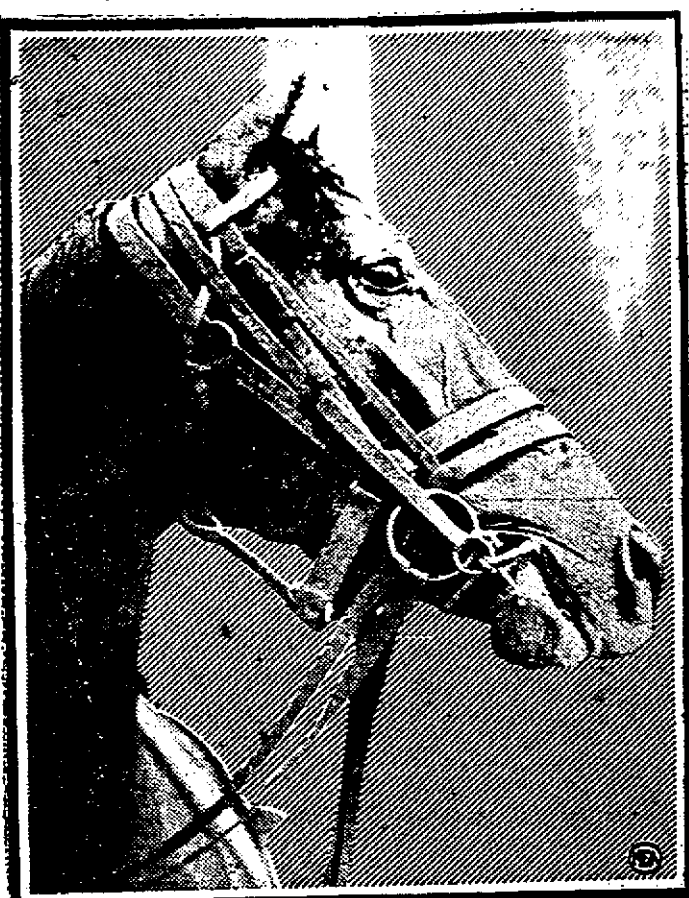

Dickinson failed on a fake play and kicked to Bismarck's 25-yard line. O'Hare made three yards and Noddings lost four. A pass, Alfson to Shepard, netted seven yards. Bismarck kicked to Dickinson's 50-yard line. Two line plays failed for Dickinson and an off-side gave a five-yard penalty. Dickinson was forced to punt to Bismarck's 25-yard line. BIG GAMES ON CARD TODAY

Notre Dame-Princeton Leader Among Intersectional Clashes

New York, Oct. 20.—Football comes into its own today.

Athletic fandom, its attention no longer claimed by the world's series, now turns to the colleges for its thrills and finds awaiting it a most promising list of gridiron engagements. The list includes several battles involving powerful intersectional foes, others bringing together eastern football rivals of equal size and strength, and still more sending brilliant and determined small college elevens against larger, but possibly less well prepared university teams.

The big intersectional game and probably the most largely attended of the day will be that at Princeton, N. J., where the Princeton tiger, which went unconquered last season, meets Knute Rockne's brilliant Notre Dame eleven, recent victor over West Point. Notre Dame is reported the favorite by reason of its army triumph last Saturday and also because Coach Roper of the Tigers has been forced to make several shifts in his lineup owing to injuries, ill or inefficiency.

Important also to the football public are the contests involving Cornell and Colgate at Ithaca, N. Y.; Pennsylvania State and Navy, at State College, Pa.; Pennsylvania and Columbia at Philadelphia. Syracuse and Pittsburgh at the Yankee Stadium, and two intersectional clashes, one between Army and Alabama Poly, at West Point, and the other between Georgia Tech and Georgetown, at Atlanta. At the same time, the impressive Holy Cross against Harvard makes their game one of promise, and Vermont's 1922 defeat of Dartmouth lends to their Burlington clash an added note of interest.

Wilton Beats Woodworth High

Wilton high school's football team beat Woodworth high at Woodworth Friday afternoon by a score of 35 to 7.

Jenson Beats A 200-Pounder

Thor Jenson, Bismarck middle-weight wrestler, weighing in at 150 pounds, defeated George Kastauko, a 200-pounder, at Wilton last night. Jenson took the first fall in 18 minutes with a head scissors and the second in 12 minutes with a straight over-body scissors and leg bar.

Beekkeepers Hold Meeting

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 20.—Beekkeepers of North Dakota will hold their annual meeting in Fargo, Nov. 23 and 24, according to tentative plans announced today by E. L. Webster, entomologist at the North Dakota Agricultural college and secretary of the North Dakota Beekeeper association. Dr. E. F. Phillips, of the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington, will be the chief speaker at the meeting. Mr. Phillips has an international reputation in beekeeping and, in the opinion of Dr. Webster, has done more than any one else to place beekeeping in the United States in its present position of importance.

PITT'S THROW-IT-ANYWHERE PASS

By NEA Service. This is how the throw-it-anywhere pass of the Pittsburgh football eleven is being used today. The action is a re-run of a play from an actual game, Lafayette being the opposing squad. No. 1 is a Pittsburgher, Pittsburgh's triple-threat artist, who has just tossed to No. 2, Schreier, who caught the ball for a 30-yard advance. No. 3 is Gustafson, Pitt's fullback; No. 4 is Shuler, quarterback, and No. 5 is Jordan, end and captain. All of these players are possible to receive the pass. If Bohrer had been covered, Gustafson would have gone for the ball. And if Gustafson, in turn, had been crowded out of the play, Shuler or Jordan would have been the receiver. Pitt worked the pass nine times out of twelve attempts in this game, an exceptionally high average.

English Send Massachusetts Gift

Hingham, Mass., Oct. 20.—Wood from an oak tree planted by Queen Elizabeth went into the making of three chairs which have been shipped from Hingham, Norfolk, England, to this town. They are the gift of Harry C. Tofts, a builder in the English Hingham, to the Bay State township which was founded by men from the Norfolk town in the seventeenth century. Sixteen years ago the top of the tree planted by the great Queen in Kimberly Park died and it became necessary to fell it. Mr. Tofts bought the timber and stored it. A few years ago he met Rev. Louis C. Cornish, secretary of the American Unitarian Association, who for sixteen years was minister of the First Parish Church of Hingham, Mass., and decided to make through him gift to this town. Mr. Tofts made the chairs, which were designed by Hugh Mottram after a model of a chair of the period when the Hingham men emigrated to America. Mr. Tofts explained that one of them should be used by the chairman of the board of selectmen, one be placed in the First Parish meetinghouse, erected in 1811, and the third be used by Mr. Cornish during his lifetime and after that go to the minister of the First Parish Church in perpetuity.

EUROPE THROUGH WITH DUELING
Vienna, Oct. 20.—Pre-war duels in Europe often were serious affairs, but post-war dueling has become largely a farce. Military men have come to a more sane view of the "field of honor," and civil courts are taking the place of meetings at dawn with a score of seconds and a doctor in attendance. A farcical duel is reported from Budapest. Both principals were directors of prominent banks. They duly appeared on the field of combat, faced each other, and cocked their revolvers. When the signal to fire was given, one man shot his bullet into the ground and the other did not fire at all. Unreconciled, the contestants left the field.
